President's Letter

Norm Anderson

Greetings Woodworkers: I think it is time that we move forward and attempt to reconstruct our group after the devastation from the COVID 19 scare. The virus is a very real thing that has caused many changes in our lifestyles including the Midwest Woodworkers Association. We have not had a meeting or presentation because of the virus fear so I left the same cartoon my editorial remains the same from April and it is as if we just had a meeting as if we were in the Twilight Zone. Yes, April was declared groundhogs month and a prehistoric pizza was found in a glacier and the pepperoni was a little on the dry side according to one taste tester but now we must move on. We will have meetings and presentations on woodworking again. We have a list of presentations lined up but would like some input and volunteers from members. Many members have expressed that they miss the education and project ideas from members as well as the comradery of meeting with old friends. I saw many of you at the Sawdust Studios open house and taco bar in July. They have offered to host a meeting for us this Monday the 24th. We will be COVID compliant in all ways with social distancing and wearing masks due to ordinance in Columbia. It is an option to attend or not and those at extreme risk may decide if it is worth the risk. I plan to be there wearing a mask even
